Client Services

Manufacturers are often held responsible for personal injuries and property damage caused by products that are (1) defective in manufacture or design, or (2) are supplied with faulty directions or inadequate warnings. Many of our clients rely upon us for counseling in these areas, from the initial product development stage through final introduction of the product. Our attorneys help ensure that safety features, warnings and instructions are designed in compliance with the law. This service has been particularly valuable to emerging companies which may not be familiar with the complexities of product liability laws.

Providing one of the most efficient products liability groups on the East Coast, the Firm offers comprehensive litigation services to its clients, including pretrial investigation, trial and appellate representation, negotiation services, structured settlement agreements, the defense of class litigation.
